This chapter is from International Product Liability - Second Edition - Juris Publishing, Inc.

2017 www.jurispub.com Product liability emerged as a stand-alone branch of law in Romania only during the last few decades. However, it is essentially grounded on “classical” civil law, which has acknowledged and regulated fundamental principles such as tort liability and contractual liability for more than a century. Product liability is thus based on the traditional civil law under the New Civil Code and the special statutes regulating product liability. To read the entire article, please download the .pdf attached.
